

Web Administrator Report – June 2024

- Following the March AGM, the CNCC name has been changed across the website, social media and UK Caving to Council for the Northern Caving Community. New logos created for future publications.
- New anchor locations section added to the equipment area of the website. This lists details of caves that have been approved for installation but not yet completed. Some have been hidden with a generic “plus x more projects” as requested by Sam Allshorn. These pending updates also show in the fixed aids section of the individual cave details page.
- New inclusivity section added to the resources area. There is more content to add here in future but for now it contains basic contact information and a form to allow reporting of issues / concerns.
- Reporting of cave / topo / conservation issues now displays in the admin area to make sure any reports requiring action are visible to everyone. A status is shown, and notes can be added. The reports are also emailed to the relevant person as before.
- More recently I've been working with Matt Ewles to produce issue 15 of the newsletter which should be published by the time of the next committee meeting. The style has been modernised further and is the largest one yet. In addition to the digital PDF version, the aim is to also publish via Hayzine allowing a more readable, page turning, on-screen experience.
- In the last few days we have just topped 2000 followers on Facebook!
